BIG CARNIVAL PLANNED FOR SMETHPORT

Mr. E. E. Snyder Who is Well Known to Smethport People Is to Stage the Big Shows for the Bucktail Post—Big Time for All.

SEVEN BIG NIGHTS AT THE LYCEUM

Seven big nigths are planned for Smethport, beginning with Saturday night December eleven and continuing until, the following Saturday night December 18th. The Bucktail Post which has been responsible for most of the excitement provided the community during the past year, is again the prime mover in the work.

They have arranged with Mr. E. E. Snyder, who is well known here by reason of his being a regular showman at the fair, to stage a miniature carnival in the Lyceum at the time stated above. A financial arrangement has been worked out which will make the week alike profitable to Mr. Snyder and the Legion Post. The latter already has salted away $800 toward a building fund and hopes to add considerably theerto through the carnival.

Mr. Snyder has brought a show or shows to the annual fair here for the past eleven years, and it speaks much for his integrity and honor as a business man that he was brought to the Legion and given a hearty endorsement by an official of the fair. In times past he has been a free lance, but this past summer he worked out a carnival organization which is now to exhibit here for the first time.

Every attempt will be made to furnish amusement of a high, clean variety for the week. There will, of course, be the usual doll stands and candy booths, and in addition at least two shows—one of them devoted to an exhibition of freaks, and the other to vaudeville.

It is planned to charge only a nominal fee for admittance to the hall and for this there will be given at least one free act, different each night. The rest of the evening will be turned over to the concessions, of which there will be a sufficient number to keep every visitor busy.

Hunting holds the board at present as the most popular past-time. Each morning Town Hill resounds with the firing of numerous Nimrods at the expense of the few birds and rabbits which have not yet learned that discretion is the better part of valor. No unusual bags of game have been reported, but everyone that goes out manages to bring back a showing that has made his hour of sport worth while.

MANY GROWERS CARELESS IN PACKING OF APPLES

Pennsylvania apple growers must use greater care and in some cases greater honesty in packing their apples if the wholesalers of the state and country are to handle them generally. This fact has been established by inspectors for the Bureau of Markets, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, who during the past month have conducted an extensive survey among the wholesalers of the state.

As a rule it has been found that wholesalers have refused to handle Pennsylvania packed apples unless they have been packed by some grower whose reputation is known to the wholesale trade. This condition has been brought about by the fact that in the past, growers have been prone to pack their apples carelessly, devoting much attention to the top of the barrel or box and neglecting the middle and bottom of the package entirely.

As a corrective measure, the Bureau of Markets is having apples in many sections of the state graded and packing regulation and it is believed that the grading and packing regulations, if promulgated and made permanent, will do much toward securing a permanent place for Pennsylvania apples on the wholesale market.

CHAUTAUQUA NOT VERY SUCCESSFUL

Last night's program brought to a close the three-day stay of the Swarthmore Chautauqua Association here. Beginning with Monday afternoon two sessions each day, afternoon and evening, were held with talent as advertised in each case.

Financially the Chautauqua proved to be a loss both for the Swarthmore Association and the local guarantors. The association lost on account of the fact that the sum raised by single admissions at the sessions proved to be very small; the guarantors had to make good because not more than two-thirds of the required number of season tickets were sold.

Throughout attendance at the Chautauqua was very poor. Undoubtedly by the inclemency of the weather and discomfort arising from lack of heat in the place of meeting, the Lyceum, were largely responsible for the failure of the community to support adequately. How far lack of interest went is a matter of doubt; it is hoped that this may not have been a real contributing factor.

The talent furnished by the association was quite satisfactory. It is doubtful whether under the conditions any troupe could have measured up to its usual standard. Tuesday evening's program seemed to be especially pleasing.

50 COUNTIES NOW HAVE FARM AGENTS

With the placement by State College of an agriculaure extension representative in active farm bureau work in Snyder county this week, sixty of the sixty-seven counties in Pennsylvania have trained men looking after their agriculture interests. J. C. Oberle, former extension representative in Franklin county, is the latest worker in the field, with headquarters at Middleburg, Snyder county. Charles E. Fague, formerly director in the vocational school at Fredonia last week assumed charge of the extension work in Susquehanna county, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of H. S. Engle, now agriculture supervisors in Dauphin county schools. Oberle and Faugue are both graduates of Pennsylvana State College.

EAST END BRIDGE OPEN TO TRAFFIC

With the opening of the new bridge across Potato Creek the end of last week, it is again possible to reach East Smethport in the good old way, without necessity either of a long detour or the use of the temporary wooden structure. Probably no improvement made in this section during the past several years will be appreciated quite so much as the new highway and bridge between this borough and East Smethport. The fact that two years have been required to do this work will make it more than ever welcome now that it is completed.

The new bridge is indeed a beauty, from the viewpoint both of strenght and design. The one bad feature, that of the turn in the road in the approach from the eastern end was unavoidable. The concrete sidewalks leading to and from the bridge cannot possibly be laid this year owing to the lateness of the season.

FALL SPRAYING CONTROLS PEACH LEAF CURL.

The most effective time to spray to control the peach leaf curl is in the fall as soon as the leaves have fallen. There are several reasons for doing the work at this time, the most important of which is that the spores that carry the disease are all on the outside of the twig and buds can be reached We often have sufficient warm weather during the winter to start the buds to swelling, the spores get under the bud scales, after which spraying will not prevent their infecting the newly developing leaves in the spring.

Spray this fall, use concentrated lime sulphur wash diluted as for San Jose scale. For further information about this and other orchard diseases write to the Bureau of Plant Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Harisburg, Pa.

AUTO COLLISION IN BRADFORD ON ARMISTICE DAY

Bradford proved to be a bad place for automobiles Thursday night during the big mardi gras porceedings. F. J. Nichols had about $500 damage done to his car as the result of a collision with another automobile, driven by a man more than a little under the weather. The whole of one side of the Nichols' car was torn off and it was necessary to leave it in a Bradford "hospital" for repairs until Tuesday.

It is said that for the thirsty, the collision proved a veritable blessing, as the Bradford car contained a good deal of the stuff of which there hasn't been any since the Eighteenth amendment went into effect.

DEATH OF MRS. OLAF LARSON

Mrs. Olaf Larson, who passed away at Drumright, Okla., will be buried Friday afternoon. Funeral services will be held at the home of her son, C. O. Larson of Rose Hill avenue, Rev. L. S. Larson of Port Allegany officiating.

THE WEEK

Washington, Nov. 9.—Comments upon the election vary in character according to the number of their makers. Those of the New York World blaming the whole business upon "a state of mind", and of the New York Times, with its visions of "the passionate desire of millions of the electorate that Ireland be freed, that Germany be treated as though she had not brought on the war," would be irresistibly comical if they were not intolerably gross aspersions upon the common sense and patriotism of the American people. The most comanding and impressive of all Democratic comments is that of Mr. Bryn, who declares that President Wilson laid the foundations of disaster and that Mr. Cox crowned the structure with what Mr. Kipling calls the "gilded dome"; and adds the urgent recommendation, that the President should forthwith resign; that Mr. Marshall, succeeding him, should reorganize the Cabinet with Mr. Harding as Secretary of State; and that Mr. Marshall should then resign, leaving Mr. Harding to become President at once. That ingenious plan will not, of course, be executed. Mr. Bryan did not expect it to be when he propounded it. But it is well to remember that Mr. Bryan was for many years the "peerless leader" of the Democratic party, three times its candidate for the presidency, and for some time Secretary of State. There is nobody in the land better qualified to speak as a representative Democratic Commoner than he, when such a party authority speaks thus concerning the Presidentcy, it certainly seems to be time for some heart-searching at the White House.

IT PAYS TO SPRAY.

E. P. Datesman, Crop Corespondend, State Department of Agriculture reports the difference in yield of potatoes on his farm in Union County was 113 bushels per acre more on the sprayed area than the unsprayed. The ground was measured and the potatoes weighed by the county agent.

DEATH OF SHERWOOD CHASE SHOCK TO TOWN

Word has been received here of the death of Sherwood Chase, formerly of this place and for the past some time located at Tulsa, Okla. The body is to be brought to Smethport and interment will be made here.

Mr. Chase is survived by his wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Chase of this place and three brothers, Roy of this place; Glenn of Olean, and Earl of Wichita Falls, Texas. The deceased was born here about forty-six years ago and spent practically his whole life-time in this vicinity. The date for the funeral has not yet been set.

FALL PLOWING KILLS THE BUGS.

There are many insects that winter over in the ground that can be killed if the ground is plowed now. Plow deeply and let the land lay rough through the winter so as to give the frost a chance to penetrate.

The freezing does some good but the most effective work is done by the plowing, breaking up the pupal cells in which the insects are wintering.

For further information insect pests and plant diseases write to the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Plant Industry, Harrisburg, Pa.

THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Three hundred years ago the Mayflower brought to our shores a company of men and women, whose ideals and heroic exploits are today being lauded throughout the Anglo-Saxon world. Sunday morning we shall add our tribute, when the pastor will preach on the subject: "The Pilgrim Fathers." Sunday school 11:45; Junior Epworth League 3. In the evening there will be a union thanksgiving service in the Baptist Church. The Rev. Noble I. Mack will preach the sermon.

CLAUDE HEATH BREAKS WRIST

Claude Heath is about the streets with his left arm in a sling as the result of a bad fall Saturday on the ice in front of Monheimer's store. Examination showed that two bones in the wrist had been broken when Mr. Heath tried to break the force of his fall by bracing himself with the left arm. The bones were carefully set and Mr. Heath is getting along as well as could be expected.

NEW FIRM AT CLERMONT STARTS ITS OPERATIONS

Monday saw the Clermont Sewer Pipe Company in operation under the management of the New York firm which recently made the purchase. It is understood that County Detective Allison, who was formerly the assistant superintendent of the plant, is to be put in complete charge of the works in place of Superintendent Ringrose, who has for years directed the manufacture of the Clermont proudct and is now retiring.

1921 DOG LICENSE TAGS ARE AVAILABLE NOW

If you own a dog that will be more than six months old on January 15, 1921, get a license tag. Get the tag at once, and save the confusion and rush of waiting until the last minute.

This is the advice of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture to the dog owners of the state. The Dog Law of 1917 provides that all dogs must be licensed on or before the fifteenth day of January of each year.

The county commissioners of the sixty-seven counties of the state have been supplied with the 1921 license tags and the county treasures are now in a position to issue the licenses.

In the meantime, special agents of the Department are continuing to assit in the rounding up of delinquent dog owners who have failed to take out a license for 1920 and many prosecutions are planned for the remainder of November and December.

But if you are a dog owner and have paid your 1920 tax, secure your 1921 tag and license immediately and be on the safe side. Dogs unlicensed on January 15, 1921, will be regarded as outlaws and may be killed, while the owners are liable to fine or imprisonment.

ARMISTICE DAY WAS CELEBRATED IN SMETHPORT

In spite of the untiring efforts of the committee in charge, the celebration of Armistice Day in Smethport proved to be far from that hoped for by the Bucktail Post of the American Legion under whose auspices the program had been arranged. A number of conditions seemed to militate against the plan which would have provided the community its own celebration.

The fact that court had been in session for three days and apparently would continue through the fourth made it necessary to change the place of the public meeting from the Court House to the Lyceum. Undoubtedly many who would have attended altered their plans upon learning of this at the last moment so that when the meeting was called to order at a little after two the attendance was comparatively small.

After the singing of America, led by Dr. H. L. McCoy, the invocation by the Rev. W. E. Van Dyke, and the announcements by Vice Commander W. A. Brownell, who in the absence of Dr. W. A. Ostrander was in charge of the meeting, Mr. W. H. Bunce of Kane was introduced as the speaker of the day. Mr. Bunce is a well known fraternal man with many friends here and had previously addressed meetings in this place. His remarks on this occasion were forceful and well chosen, fitting in perfectly with the spirit of the day.

A feature planned for the exercises was the presentation of the Victory medals to ex-service men and women of the community. Applications had been duly made by a number of the members of the Post but the means failed to put in their appearance.

In as much as there were but a few ex-service men in uniform about the streets after the meeting, it was deemed best to hold no parade, and those at the meeting, with their numbers swelled by other fans, adjourned to Kane Field where they had the pleasure of seeing the high school boys hand Eldred an exceedingly interesting lacing at football.

About one hundred partook of the fine banquet served at six thirty in the basement of the M. E. Church, veterans of the Civil and Spanish wars, together with the ex-service men of the recent war, being present with their ladies. Mrs. Lindholm prepared the banquet which was served by Mrs. C. L. Lorah and the girls of her Camp Fire.

After the banquet Dr. W. A. Ostrander, serving as toastmaster, called upon several members of the Post and several veterans of former wars for a few words.

The military ball in the evening, which was held in the Lyceum, was poorly attended. Apparently, following a custom noted in other connections, the most of the community preferred to motor elsewhere for their entetrainment.

It is understood that Smethport was largely represented at the celebrations held in neighboring towns, particularly Bradford, where an especially big time was advertised. It seems unfortunate that this day, which should be peculiarly set aside for a celebration by the community, should have been allowed to go by this year with so little attention. The Bucktail organization should be commended for their efforts to provide the means of celebration to the community.

HOLLYHOCK RUST.

Hollyhock rust does serious damage to that beautiful flowered plant. This disease can be held in check to a great extent by removing and destroying at this season all leaves that have been shed by the plants, also look the leaves over on the other wintering rosette and if any are found diseased detroy them also. Supplement this work next spring with Bordeaux mixture.

For further information regarding insect pests and plant diseases, write to the Bureau of Plant Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg, Pa.

SEEK TO STOP SALE OF SPOILED FOODSTUFFS

The Pennsylvania Department of Agreculture is endeavoring to interest officials of the United States Army and Navy in preventing the sale, to the public of Pennsylvania, of foodstuffs unfit or human consumption. Under an opinion from the attorney general's department, the Bureau of Foods, Pennsylvanias Department of Agriculture, cannot prevent the army or navy from disposing of spoiled stores when they are sold as being unfit for food.

The Bureau, however, can prosecute wholesalers of retailers who offer the goods for sale and this has already been done in the case of a number of Philadelphia dealers who offered for sale candy that was rancid and wormy.

The government holds large stores of candy and other stuffs at Gary's Ferry and other points in Pennsylvania. This stuff has been held so long that much of it is unfit for food. The government, in selling is has plainly marked it as being unfit for human food, yet unscurpulous men have purchased the stuff and offered it to the public as being fit for food.

The co-operation of the army and navy has been sought by the Director Foust of the Bureau of Foods and an effort will be made to affectually prevent this stuff from reaching the public.

Deaf Students Makes Good at Penn State

State College, Pa., Nov. 18.—Although totally deaf, Joseph W. Stevenson of Bellevnue, a freshman in the forestry course at the Pennsylvania State College, has passed every scholastic test given by his instructors in the past two months, and ranks with good standing among his classmates. He is twenty years of age and was graduated from the Bellaire high school last spring rated in the middle third of his class as to scholastic standing. He has been unable to hear for a number of years, and is skilled at reading lips, a qualification that enables him to hold his own with other students. He keeps up with his class by asking for additional textbook and reference assignments, and takes frequet examinations. All of his instructors speak highly of his [illegible].

Although unable to participate in military drill, young Stevenson has chosen the cinder track as a means for physical development and is showing progress as a cross country runner.

ELDRED H. S. MEETS DEFEAT

For the first time in years a football team representing the Eldred high school was forced Armistice Day to bow to a Smethport team. The fast going local boys outclassed Eldred everywhere and won out 32-0, incidentally increasing their record to 97 points scored against opponents while the latter went without a counter.

Save in the third quarter, the visitors were unable to match the local boys either in team work or in individual play. No one can doubt the sincerity of their efforts to win, for they fought like terriers and consistantly contested each yard made by the Smethport boys. They were simply out weighed and out played and never got within Smethport's ten-yard line.

Admittedly in the early part of the game the breaks were with the home team. The first touchdown was the result of an intercepted pass three minutes after play began; the second was scored after the kick-off when an Eldred man touched the ball and a Smethport man recovered back of the goal line; and the third came after Allison had just managed to catch a long pass and to run 70 yards to the line.

Smethport jumped into the game at the very start with the same spirit and fight that characterized their play Saturday before against St. Bernard's, points on three touchdowns in the They quickly ran up a score of 13 first quarter and increased their lead to 26 points in the second quarter. No more scoring was done until the last period when the last 7 points

The American Idea

The fundamental idea of our American civilization is this: Any man who has the stuff in him can, by his own energy, thrift industry and courage, rise to any heights he may choose. His only limit is his own weakness. He himself, is in a class by himself. There is no other class here.

This is the greatest experiment ever made by man. It is a new idea fit to be developed only in a new world. It is the American idea.

A Navy For Defense

The giant battleship Tennessee, now undergoing her trials off the Atlantic Coast, is the latest addition to our fleet. Plans have been prepared for a still more formidable class of fighting ships, to carry twelve 16-inch guns. Our navy is growing larger and stronger all the time, but fortunately it is going to be used only for American defense. The decisive rejection of the league of nations in assurance that our ships will never be sent into foreign waters wantonly to overawe other nations with which the United States had no quarrel.

The Railway Radicals.

An issue already ominously clear has been made utterly unmistakable in England. The railway men have by their radical action, left no shred of doubt as to motive behind the British strike movements. It is defiance of the government and disdain of the rest of society. Its engineers call it "a lighting sympathy walkout." Quickly will roll back in resentment the thunderous growl of the British government and all citizen not enmeshed in the reddish coils of the Triple Alliance.

The deplorable strategy of the immediate situation is plain enough. The rank and file—mostly the hotheads of youth, whose last five years of development have been among such abnormal economic environments—are now out of hand. "Leaders" frantically busy in conferings, pleadings and warnings couldn't restrain them. But it was that same insolvent leadership which created the psychological reaction. Their propaganda of political activity, class appeal, direct action, ceaseless demands, demagogic treatment of economic issues, and, above all, their insidious flirting with Continental Reds, have worked just as inevitably do exploding chemicals.

But the far more serious national issue is that exposed by reaction of this initial recklessness and eventual heedlessness. It is the clash between class and government. One must capitulate and the other conquer; compromise is impossible. Under that, hidden at very bottom, is a world issue between the existing order and the Marx-Lenise brand.

The railwaymen talk of "sympathy." What they mean is a reinforcement of intimidation by brute force, added to what the coal miners have already exerted. The coal controversy was swathed in fogs of figures. Here the dipute is stark open. The secretary of the transport workers— the third if the threat trinity—calls it a feud "between the government and the working classes." He is correct save for the big reservation of all the other working classes who are made the victims of this oligarchy."

The British railwaymen have no real grievance of their own, save as, like the miners, they cry "nationalization." A British writer currently observes that "outside of railwaymen and socialists, it would be difficult today to find an enthusiast for nationalization." The railwaymen in their latest wage got £24,300,000 more. They should have still the memory of their own recent defeat. Yet they tempt fate again.

For the government and the rest of the people there only one recourse. It is to the primal law of self-defense—if they would not lose all their existing laws.—Boston News Bureau.

Stopping Waste A Task

One of the first duties of the new Republican administration, in cooperation with the new Republican Congress that will assemble after March 4th next, will be to salvage that part of the national wealth that will be founded in the process of being deliberately wasted by the retiring Democrats. Probably the largest part of that waste in in connection with the disposition of war material. tories appear almost every day in the press teling of the wanton destruction of automobiles, cannon of all kinds, ordinance stores, miscellaneous quartermaster supplies, etc. In addition, camp sites, munition depots, and production plants of all sorts are being sold for but a fraction of the investment which the Government has in them.

There is little doubt that much of that War Department property should be preserved as reserve equipment for the Army. Much of it, on the other hand, will never be of further service, and should be permitted to remain longer under conditions that cause its rapid deterioration and ultmate loss. Republican re-construction will mean not only providing for the future, but saving as much as possible from the prodigal period which we are about to emerge.

* * * * * * * *

"The real opposition," says the New York Times, "was to a Wilson League." That is precisely true. But the Times is in error when it goes on to argue that the objection to the Wilson League was purely nominal, and that the Republican leaders—rather, the American people—would accept the identical thing under another name. The opposition was and is and will be not to the name of Wilson but to the thing Wilsonism.

Penn State Quartet To Appear in Panama

State College, Pa., Nov. 15.—The male quartet of the Pennsylvania State College student glee club will sail from New York on December 9, for the Panama canal zone where it will provide entertainment for soldiers and government employees during the week preceding Christmas. The trip will be made under the auspeces of the government, and will be the third of its kind for a Penn State musical organization during the past seven years. Varsity quartets appeared in Panama in 1913 and 1916.

The trip will be under the direction of C. C. Robinson, director of music at the college, and concerts are planned at Coatesville and Ridgewood, N. J., prior to sailing. The quartet is composed of a versatile group of student musicians who can act as well as sing, and will be able to furnish a complete evening's entertainment. The personnel includes A. R. Kennard, of Clearfield, first tenor; E. H. Rolston, of State College, second tenor; B. W. Knapp of Warren, first bass; A. W. Stolzing, of Jamestown, N.Y., second bass; Hummel Fishburn, of Washington, D. C., instrumentalist; Mrs. C. C. Robinson, pianist, and Miss Ruth Jackson, of the English faculty, reader. They are rehearsing a series of feature skits and special musical numbers for the trip.

RED CROSS READY FOR ROLL CALL

Achievements of Past Year Warrant Support of People.

GREAT PEACE-TIME PROGRAM

Health of Country the Outstanding Feature — Disaster Relief Made More Efficient.

Its appeal based upon a record of solid achievement during the last year in putting under way its peace-time program, the Fourth Roll Call of the American Red Cross will begin this week. Throughout the length and breadth of the land and even in the far-off possessions of the United States, the American people will be given the opportunity to renew allegiance to their Red Cross through the payment of dues for the coming year. An adult membership of approximately 10,000,000 resulted from the Roll Call last year and preliminary reports from all parts of the country indicate that this extent of support will be maintained and possibly exceeded for 1921.

"The Red Cross comes to its Fourth Roll Call with its war task still unfinished and its peace program rapidly developing," says Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the Central Committee. "Never were the world and national needs so pressing and the corresponding opportunities for service so great. Wide-spread distress and sickness stare us in the face in Europe and the Red Cross is carrying on to the extent of its resources, in an attempt to answer the call for help. How permanent and far-reaching that answer shall be depends upon the mind and the conscience of the American people.

The Work at Home.

"At home the wounded and sick soldiers and sailors in hospitals and elsewhere are still numbered by the thousands. The Red Cross must stand by those who gave their best for their country and extend what aid and comfort may be possible.

"An attempt to build up the health of the country, which is the outstanding feature of the peace program of the Red Cross, is taking the energies of the organization. Demands for visiting nurses come from every corner of the United States and every effort is being made to supply that need, the filling of which is vital. The organization of Health Centers is opening up a new conception of community welfare everywhere. The new public philosophy of not merely curing the sick, but of keeping people well is opening illimitable lines of possibility.

"The Junior Red Cross is developing in the school children of the country ideals and habits of sound citizenship which mean more, perhaps, than anything else for the future safety of our American democracy. Home Service is a necessary function of the Red Cross, for there are thousands of families of soldiers which are still in need of friendly counsel and relief. Along its historic line of activity and usefulness the Red Cross is standardizing its Disaster Relief, so that there shall be in constant readiness a trained organization ready upon a moment's notice to carry its work of mercy anywhere."

Every One Should Join.

The Fourth Roll Call will begin generally throughout the country on the second anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, and continue, wherever necessary, to Thanksgiving Day, November 25. For many weeks National Headquarters, the fourteen divisions and the over 3650 Chapters have been organizing Red Cross workers everywhere for the big task that is involved in re-rolling the million of members. That the success of their efforts may be insured, churches, service men's organizations and fraternal and similar bodies are giving generous co-operation.

Not the least important assistance that is being given is that of thousands of societies of the foreign born and the foreign language press which in this way are giving evidence of appreciation for the wide variety of service rendered the immigrant population by the Red Cross.

Preparations for the Roll Call include a novel series of posters, for the most part in text form, describing the peace-time work of the Red Cross in its many phases. An innovation in this Roll Call will be a membership certificate presented to every payer of dues, whether the dues be $1 for Annual Membership or $100 for Patron Membership, as well as a 1921 membership button and window membership flag.

THREE MILLIONS AIDED IN FRANCE

The American Red Cross expended $51,000,000 during the last fiscal year in finishing up such relief activities in Europe as could be consistently discontinued.

In closing its relief work in France and Belgium—the most extensive of all its overseas activities—the American Red Cross furnished supplies to 3563 villages and directly benefitted 3,030,000 persons by gifts, or sales at nominal prices.

THE CLINAX OF LIVE STOCK SHOWS

Now that the State Fair circuit has been completed and the live stock shows of lesser season have terminated with success in every instance, the industry is preparing for the greatest event of the year—the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago during the first week of December. After such successful display season of domestic animal life in every section of the United States, magnitude and interest are assured at this event.

The live stock industry is now recuperating after the stress of war period depletion all over the world, the international character of the Chicago event giving it trans-Atlantic and antipodean importance. An unusually large representation is promised by Great Britain, France, Italy, Canada, Argentina, Australia and other countries—all potential markets for pure-bred cattle, hogs and sheep produced in the United States. Feeding problems will be elucidated and new feature inaugurated last year under the auspices of the Chocago Board of Trade—a grain and hay ixhibit—will be on vastly greater scale. All the breeds will be represented in the arena, the entire aggregation constituting the greatest assemblage of pure-bred live stock ever assembled for competitive purposes.

Novelties have been provided for the evening entertainment, which has always been a popular feature of the Exposition.

ATTENTION OIL MEN

A fine oil property in Rock Run, Annin Twp., McKeanCo., has just come into our hands for quick sale. Over one hundred acres, subject to one eighth royalty. Has eighteen wells, four powers, gas engines, stock tanks, gas lines and lead lines. Complete equipment and small tools of all kinds. Also a very good house is provided for the pumper. This lease produces two and one half to three barrels of oil daily and this sells for 20 cents a bar. premium. This property would junk for about what we are asking for it.

The price is only twenty-five thousand dollars and we will give terms.

NOTICE

The Potato Creek Railroad Company hereby gives notice that on the lighteenth day of October, 1920, it filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission, at its office in the city of Washinton, D. C., an application for permission to abandon a portion of its line of railroad situated in the counties of Potter and McKean, in the state of Pennsylvania, and for authority to construct a branch line of railroad in the County of McKean, state of Pennsylvania.

Pursant to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the said application is now published as follows.

Before the Interstate Commarce Commission.

APPLICATION No.

In re application of the Potato Creek Railroad Company for a certificate of Public Convenience and neccessity, evidencing the Commission's approval of the abandonment of a portion if the petitioners' railroad and of the construction of a branch.

TO THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION:

The Potato Creek Railroad Company hereby makes application for a certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity, under the provisions of paragraphs (18) to (22) inclusive of Section 1 of the Interstate Commerce Act as amended by Section 405 to the Transportation Act, 1920, and sets forth:

(1) The full names and post office addresses of the applicant carrier, its president, its secretary and its attorney, are as follows: Potato Creek Railroad Company, Norwich, McKean County, Pennsylvania: R. R. Lewis, President, Coudersport, Potter Co. E. A. Mayer, Secretary, Marine Trust Bldg., Buffalo, N. Y., Archibald F. Jones, Attorney, Coudersport, Pennsylvania.

(2). The applicant carrier is a corporation organized under the general railroad laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the purpose of constructing a standard gauge railroad from the village of Keating Summit, in the County of Potter, to the village of Clermont, in the County of McKean, State of Pennsylvania.

(3) The making and filing of this application was duly approved and authorized at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the applicant carrier duly called and held on the 28th day of September, 1920, at its office in the village of Norwich, McKean County, Penn'a.

(4) All of the portion of the line of railroad proposed to be abandoned is in the counties of Potter and McKean, in the State of Pennsylvania, and all of the branch proposed to be constructed and operated is in the said County of McKean.

(5) (a) The applicant carrier desires to abandon the portion of its line extending form its eastern terminus at Keating Summit, where it connects with the Buffalo and Susquehanna Railroad, to its connection with the line of the Pennsylvaia Railroad at Liberty, Pennsylvania, a distance of about two and one half miles; and upon the completion of the branch hereinafter mentioned to abandon the portion of its line of railroad extending from said connection at Liberty to the village at Norwich, a distance of about twelve miles.

(b) The applicant carrier proposes and desires to construct a branch line from its western terminus at Keyston, a distance of about two miles, north to a junction at Hamlin siding with the line of the Pennsylvania railroad which runs from Larrabee, McKean County, to Johnsonburg, Elk County, Penn'a.

(6) The railroad of the applicant carrier was originally constructed to carry traffic derived from extensive lumbering operations. These operations have practically ceased and there is not now, nor will there be in the future sufficient business to require the continuance of the portion of the railroad proposed to be abandoned. The Pennsylvania Railroad and the branch proposed to be constructed will adequately serve the remaining industries and will answer all requirements of public convenience and necessity. In the judgment of its officers the present railroad of the applicant carrier cannot be operated except at loss.

(7) If objection should be made by anyone to the proposed abandonment and construction of the branch, applicant desires an opportunity to produce evidence before the Commission or an examiner and be heard by counsel.

WHEREFORE, the applicant carrier prays your Honorable Commision to issue a certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity permitting it to abandon the said portion of its railroad and to construct the proposed branch.

POTATO CREEK RAILROAD COMPANY

BIRD HIDES NEST CLEVERLY

South American Fiery Topaz Knows Well the Value of Matching Colors to Deceive Enemies.

Perhaps the most wonderful thing about the fiery topaz humming bird is the manner in which it makes its nest. In this respect it is a past master of camouflage for a very observant person or animal could be quite close to one of these nests and never be phle to distinguish it from the bough or trunk of the tree to which it is attached. This nest is truly remarkable on account of its structure, and in appearance it greatly resembles leather, colored to represent the fungus and moss that grows upon the trees in the Amazon river region, where it makes its home. Still more interesting is the manner in which the nest is attached to the bark, as these birds weave it on in such a manner that it is difficult to see just where the bark or nest begin. The nest is composed of a kind of fungus which the birds gather and match their colors so well that camouflage effect is complete.

As might be guessed from the name, the fiery topaz is mostly a brilliant scarlet, which contrasts beautifully with the few black markings noticeable on the neck, as well as the green on the lower part of the back. There are no more harmonious colors than green and red, recognized everywhere as an outdoor combination that is hard to surpass, so one can imagine that the fiery topaz compares well with the birds of the South American jungles.

Although a member of the hummingbird family, the fiery topaz is noted for the remarkably large size that it sometimes attains, as the entire length is often as great as eight inches.

DREAM OF AMPUTATED LIMBS

Feelings of Those Who Have Lost Arm or Leg Can Only Be Cured by Time.

Dr. Edred M. Corner, the famous London surgeon, has been studying the dreams of persons who have lost an arm or leg by amputation, and he reports some interesting observations to "The Practitioner." It is well known that after amputation the lost limb is still felt, at any rate for a time, and such sensations are called "phantom limbs."

Dr. Corner says these are unusual among the young but frequent among the older, and they pass away with time, after eight months or a year the patient being unconscious of the lost limb except when he thinks about it. A man who has lost one limb may dream that he has lost both or that he has lost the wrong one, or that the one amputated is still there but seems awkward or hurts; the dreamer cannot bend the phantom leg or arm or finds it stiff and heavy.

Badly fitting artificial limbs aggravate the sensations, evidently by irritating the severed nerves. Cold, damp, changes of weather and absence of occupation for the mind increase the sensations. The nearer the trunk the limb has been cut off the worse are the pains and the longer they are likely to continue.

Sometimes an operation or massage will cure a persistent case, but generally it has to be left to time.

Window Box Is Especially Useful in Winter Months.

Cellar Is Utilized by Many People as Air There Is of About Proper Temperature—Perforated Shelves Are Handy.

Ice chests food is chilled by artificially cold air; naturally cold air can also be used in many ways for the preservation of food. A simple way of keeping food cold, especially in winter, is by means of a window box. The most convenient kind fits on the window ledge close up to the window, preferably on the north side of the house. It should be dust and fly proof and some arrangement for ventilation should be made.

The air in the cellar is cool and is utilized by many people for cooling food. A shaft made of wood or wood and plaster and extending from the cellar through the roof is a device for utilizing the cool air of the cellar, which is particularly adapted to a cool, dry climate. Wire or perforated shelves are fitted into the shaft at convenient heights where it passes through the kitchen or pantry. In front of the shelves should be placed a door opening from the shaft. As the air in the upper part of the shaft grows warmer, the cool air from the cellar is drawn up, this constant upward movement of cool air cooling the food on the shelves. Where there is no suitable cellar the shaft may open through the wall of the house just above the ground. Both ends of the shaft should be screened.—United States Department of Agriculture.

GOVERNOR SPROUL URGES MEMBERSHIP IN THE RED CROSS

PROCLAMATION.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
HARRISBURG

The Governor.

October 28, 1920.

TO THE PEOPLE OF PENNSYLVANIA:

The work of the Red Cross during the late war, with its attendant prevention and alleviation of human suffering, its care of the blind, its assistance to the destitute widows and orphans of our heroic men who gave up their lives for their country, needs now no tribute. That work stands before our citizens and is its own memorial.

But we must not be unmindful that there is and always will be great work to be undertaken by this organization to continue carrying on a system of national and international relief in time of peace, and to apply the same in mitigating the suffering caused by calamities of many kinds. The plans of the Red Cross for the ensuing year are far-reaching, and that these plans may be successful the co-operation of all red-blooded American citizens is solicited by the call to again enroll in the organization.

The period from November eleventh (Armistice Day) to November twenty-fifth (Thanksgiving Day) has been selected for the Fourth Red Cross Roll Call, when all citizens will have the honor of renewing their memberships and willingly show their appreciation of the continuing work of the organization.

To this end I extend my heartiest commendation and support with the hope that my fellow-citizens will answer and assist.

(Signed) WM. C. SPROUL,
Governor.

ENLISTED MEN AIDED BY THE RED CROSS

Thousands of Army and Navy Men and Their Families Get Substantial Help.

During the year ending June 30, the American Red Cross assisted thousands of veterans and their families in many material ways while at more than 200 military and naval stations Red Cross representatives looked after the welfare of the men.

On November 1, 1919, by order of the Secretaries of War and of the Navy, seven organizations were withdrawn from the camps and hospitals and the Red Cross was continued alone as the official civilian organization to render relief service. In the orders the peace-time duties of the Red Cross were definitely set forth, "to act as a connecting link between the enlisted men and their families."

From the entrance of the United States into the war until June 30 last, there were 7,000,000 cases in which service was rendered the American soldier or his family at his home, approximately $10,000,000 being expended for this relief.

Home Service Work.

Home service among the families of enlisted men decreased from 34,015 in December, 1919, to 16,511 in June, 1920, while the army decreased from 974,500 to 231,879, showing that while the army decreased three-fourths, Home Service decreased about one-half. An even higher percentage of cases is shown in the matter of information concerning sick and missing men. Many thousands of men discharged from the army for disability were unable to secure compensation, re-training or medical care, or were ignorant of the steps necessary. Through the Red Cross thousands were placed in touch with the agencies that could aid them.

In the entertainment for men in camps and hospitals, in July, 1919, there were given 848 motion picture entertainments with an attendance of 128,176. In December, 1919, while the entertainments had been reduced to 782, the attendance was 138,482. In June, 1920, the number of entertainments were reduced to 338, but with only one-fourth as many army men, the attendance was 88,173.

Safeguarding Bonds.

In 1919 the Red Cross was authorized by the Army and Navy to assist the men who had subscribed in obtaining delivery of their Liberty Bonds. During four months of 1919, a total of 2784 requests for delayed bonds amounting to $302,400 were received. Of these 2629 deliveries were accomplished, involving bonds valued at $292,450. In addition 55 bonds were delivered through Navy or Marine Corps channels as a result of Red Cross assistance, and 784 other cases were closed. During the fiscal year just closed the Red Cross was instrumental in having delivered to soldiers' families 15,000 Liberty Loan Bonds valued at approximately $1,000,000. It was also instrumental in securing settlements, or decisions for families in 263,330 allotment and allowances cases and has prosecuted 50,000 compensation and insurance claims.

The Means to an End of Waste Space

A few panels of Beaver Board, a little wood trim, a hammer, nails and saw—all you need to cover up old cracked plaster and wallpaper and put new life into any part of the house.

Beaver Board plays a major part in this worthwhile operation. While it is covering up unsightly cracks and dingy wallpaper it is providing a surface for painting and decorating, and ending the wall and ceiling question once and for all time.

Beaver Board is built up into large flawless panels from strong, pure wood fibres. When you have lived with it you will know why it is displacing lath and plaster in new houses and putting new life into old ones.

were added. It is safe to say that another minute of play would have brought another touchdown for the boys had the ball on Eldred's three-yard line when the whistle blew.

The game Armistice Day again proved the fine condition of the local boys, as but one man on the team, Cramer had to be removed from the game for injuries. Warner was laid out a minute, but was back in immediately afterward with all his usual fight. Eldred made one substitution, but was constantly required to ask for time to recuperate.

The line as usual held like a stone wall on the defensive and charged this at will on the offensive. Special mention should be made of the ends and the work of the right side of the line. In the back field all played well, Allison making some brilliant runs and Warner playing his best game of the year. Curran ran the team like a general. Coylristro showed fine promise as a full-back.

The boys are playing great football now, of seven games played they have won four and tied a fifth. They have run up a total of 81 points against their opponents' 94—a very creditable showing.

The return game with Eldred at Eldred will be played on Friday, November 19, weather permitting. The boys are on the look for cars in which to make the trip. An effort is being made to secure a game Thanksgiving but no team has yet been signed up.

IMPROVED ROADS

NOVEL ROAD-MAKING DEVICE

Southerner Has Patented an Unusual Drag, Which Is Said to Be Quite Effective.

For removing inequalities from dirt highways, a southern inventor has devised and patented an unusual road drag, which is declared to be very effective. The forward part of the contrivance includes three transverse beams, fastened together with two lateral timbers. In the first two crosspieces are set spikes, the points of which protrude from the wood, while the front side of the third beam is faced with metal. The rear portion of the device, which is attached to the front section with chains, consists of two side timbers, nailed to four heavy planks, with their forward edges turned upward and lapped. When the appliance is pulled over a road, the earth is loosened by the spikes, then smoothed and packed by the remainder of the machine, thus finishing the surface in one operation.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

NUMBER ALL ENGLISH ROADS

Properly Organized and Uniform System of Sign Posting to Be Used in Great Britain.

The national road scheme will be ready by the autumn.

The scheme consists of the classification of all main and secondary roads in Great Britain, together with a properly organized and uniform system of sign posting. Roads will bear distinctive numbers, so that the traveler need only ascertain the official number of the road, say, from Norwich to Birmingham, to be able to travel from one town to the other without a map.

The experiments conducted under instructions of the ministry of transport to determine the most suitable material for a uniform road dressing, have been successful, and a standard surface has been practically selected. For the present this surface will be applied only to the arterial, and not to the secondary, roads.

By January 1 the new national road scheme will be in readiness to be put into immediate operation.—Daily Mail London.

WOULD MAKE EASIER READING

Boston Man Has Idea for Printing Books That Is Interesting but Revolutionary.

Why not print all books in such a way that every page is a right-hand page? asks D. I. Winslow of Boston, who claims a patent for his conception of how to do it. He holds that if one has to read pages on one side of a book only, this will be held more easily, the eyes will not wander, there will be no necessity for changing the position of head and neck when passing from one page to another. Thus reading, especially of big, heavy volumes, will be less fatiguing not only to the eyes, head and neck, but also to the arms and hands.

Mr. Winslow's idea is to print a book so that you read straight ahead from right-hand page to right-hand page, these being numbered consecutively; then, when you have read through to the last right-hand page, you turn the book upside down and continue reading as before, what in ordinary books are left-hand pages now being right-hand pages. This, of course, involves printing all left-hand pages upside down and numbering them consecutively from the back of the book. This would easily be arranged by the printer in laying out the forms, though to get the pagination of a large book correct would require some nice calculation on the printer's part.
